Unfinished Business

- Mr. Feuer completed a review of the proposed new building permit for Marlow. He gave his suggested revisions to the Marlow Selectmen.

New Business

- Misha Golfman and Linda Fuerderer from Kroka Expeditions, joined by Andrew Kellar from NH Solar Gardens, Inc., met with the Marlow Planning Board to discuss their plans to install solar panels which will generate electricity. Not only would it provide all the electricity needed by Kroka, but it would also supplement electricity for 8 other community participants. The idea of utilizing alternative energy fits well with Kroka's overall philosophy. And the other (8) participants would receive rebates based on the energy produced. They described the process, placement, and plans. At this point they are working on any permits required by the state and town. They asked the Planning Board for advice on what they would need to do to proceed. Discussion followed -- Mr. Feuer asked the representatives from Kroka to summarize their plans on paper and present it to the Planning Board, as there is no permit for this type of venture, at this time.
- Mr. Feuer reported that he'd had calls from Attorney Steve Markiewicz, and from Powers Associates in Keene in regard to property on either side of Fox Hill Rd, abutting Mansfield Road, owned by PC Connection. Atty. Markiewicz wanted information on decisions made by the Marlow Planning Board in 1988. Ms. Hazelton found the minutes from the two meetings in 1988 during which discussion of the property took place.

The meeting was adjourned at 9:10 p.m.
